3 of 3 review helpful Not enough for the non Polish speakers By Jim Davis It has been a long time since AJ Press published a book in this series that wasn't dual Polish English. So it was a great disappointment when a book that should have been of much interest to English speakers was published with the text in Polish only. The photo and drawing captions are dual language. I suppose the logic here is that American ships. The Yorktown class aircraft carriers consisted of three carriers: Yorktown, Enterprise, and Hornet, built by the U.S. and completed shortly before World War II. They bore the brunt of early action in the Pacific, and the sole survivor, Yorktown, went on to become the most decorated ship in the history of the U.S. Navy. This first volume of this Yorktown class aircraft carrier monograph includes the history of this class of warships and their service through to the Pacific War.
